The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.

The Talmud’s Great Dispute of Religious History

Shaull Stam Pfer

What is the meaning of Bagel and Latke? Join us as Professor Shaull Stam Pfer explores the history behind two classic modern Jewish foods: bagels, an American invention, and the Latke, which has a similar role as an Israeli Jewish food. In his talk he will explore the Talmud’s dispute of religious history, the liturgy, the food ethics, and food practices of the time, and the identity of the food. But what is this ceremony he called the "cereal bowl of crumbs, a ritualistically daily and daily religious ritual?"

The Landscape of Monochrome

For almost two decades, M. C. Escher has been the subject of academic research for his role in the Scientific Revolution and for the influence of his works on contemporary art. In his talk, Professor Menachem Fisch will discuss the work of Escher, as well as the cultural and political implications of his work, and will touch on the role of the artist and his work in the history of art.
The Hidden Jews of Ethiopia

WRITTEN BY HANNAH NEMER, '15

Fifteen years ago, Ethiopian Jews were sleeping through World War II. In 2003, four years after the fall of the communist government in Ethiopia, a team from the Ethiopian Jewish Community Organization took the initiative to lead the first national survey of Ethiopia’s Jewish population. In the years since this first survey, the numbers of Jews in Ethiopia have continued to rise, as the community becomes more visible and its transition to modernity is underway.

Hannah Nemer ’15 is a senior at the unc in Germanic and Slavic Languages and Concentration and Economics. A former student of the Center for Jewish Studies, she is also the center’s undergraduate student representative.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

The Power of Food and the Making of an American

MARCIE COHEN FERRIS, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

Food is one of the most powerful forces in the world, yet its place in academic study has historically been marginalized. With her new book, The Power of Food and the Making of an American, Ferris aims to change that.

Ferris is an associate professor of history at the unc, where she teaches courses on American food, religion, ethnicity, gender, and culture. Her new book, published by the University of California Press, examines the role of food in shaping American identity.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

Privacy support for students who study in the Middle East and Northern Africa

The Center for Jewish Studies is offering privacy support for students who study in the Middle East and Northern Africa. This support is designed to help students understand and navigate the cultural and political landscape of the region, as well as to provide them with resources and guidance.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

The Zohar as a Source for Jewish Studies

LAURA KELLER, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

The Zohar, a central text in Jewish mysticism, has been studied by scholars for centuries. In her new book, The Zohar as a Source for Jewish Studies, Keller explores the ways in which the Zohar can be used as a source for Jewish studies.

Keller is an associate professor of Jewish Studies at the unc, where she teaches courses on Jewish mysticism and the history of Jewish thought. Her new book, published by the University of Chicago Press, is the first comprehensive study of the Zohar as a source for Jewish studies.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

A回家 to the Argentine Jewish Film Festival

HANNAH NEMER, ‘15

Hannah Nemer ’15 is a senior at the unc in Germanic and Slavic Languages and Concentration and Economics. A former student of the Center for Jewish Studies, she is also the center’s undergraduate student representative.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

A回家 to the Argentine Jewish Film Festival

HANNAH NEMER, ‘15

Hannah Nemer ’15 is a senior at the unc in Germanic and Slavic Languages and Concentration and Economics. A former student of the Center for Jewish Studies, she is also the center’s undergraduate student representative.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

EXPLORING FOOD CULTURE

MARCIE COHEN FERRIS, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

Food is one of the most powerful forces in the world, yet its place in academic study has historically been marginalized. With her new book, The Power of Food and the Making of an American, Ferris aims to change that.

Ferris is an associate professor of history at the unc, where she teaches courses on American food, religion, ethnicity, gender, and culture. Her new book, published by the University of California Press, examines the role of food in shaping American identity.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

A HOME TO THE ARGENTINE JEWISH FILM FESTIVAL

HANNAH NEMER, ‘15

Hannah Nemer ’15 is a senior at the unc in Germanic and Slavic Languages and Concentration and Economics. A former student of the Center for Jewish Studies, she is also the center’s undergraduate student representative.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

EXPLORING FOOD CULTURE

MARCIE COHEN FERRIS, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

Food is one of the most powerful forces in the world, yet its place in academic study has historically been marginalized. With her new book, The Power of Food and the Making of an American, Ferris aims to change that.

Ferris is an associate professor of history at the unc, where she teaches courses on American food, religion, ethnicity, gender, and culture. Her new book, published by the University of California Press, examines the role of food in shaping American identity.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

A HOME TO THE ARGENTINE JEWISH FILM FESTIVAL

HANNAH NEMER, ‘15

Hannah Nemer ’15 is a senior at the unc in Germanic and Slavic Languages and Concentration and Economics. A former student of the Center for Jewish Studies, she is also the center’s undergraduate student representative.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

EXPLORING FOOD CULTURE

MARCIE COHEN FERRIS, ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR

Food is one of the most powerful forces in the world, yet its place in academic study has historically been marginalized. With her new book, The Power of Food and the Making of an American, Ferris aims to change that.

Ferris is an associate professor of history at the unc, where she teaches courses on American food, religion, ethnicity, gender, and culture. Her new book, published by the University of California Press, examines the role of food in shaping American identity.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.

A HOME TO THE ARGENTINE JEWISH FILM FESTIVAL

HANNAH NEMER, ‘15

Hannah Nemer ’15 is a senior at the unc in Germanic and Slavic Languages and Concentration and Economics. A former student of the Center for Jewish Studies, she is also the center’s undergraduate student representative.

For more information, contact the Arts and Sciences Foundation at (919) 962-0108.
undergraduate student profile

Lilianna Gregory, ’15

Department of Religious Studies

What drew you to the Jewish studies minor?

My minor came to me as a coincidence. They had a new minor program for Jewish studies, and I mentioned it in passing to a professor of mine who taught a course on this topic. I was interested in this field and happy to take the chance to learn more.

What is your favorite class you have taken so far?

My favorite class was Jewish Art and Culture. We learned a lot about the history of Jewish art, including how it developed in different countries and movements, and how it reflects the social and religious contexts of its time. I enjoyed the hands-on elements of the course, such as visiting museums and cultural centers around the world.

How do you think your minor will impact your future?

My minor will impact my future by giving me a stronger understanding of Jewish history and culture, which will be beneficial in a variety of career paths, such as law, business, or non-profit work. It will also give me a unique perspective on the world, which will be valuable in my personal and professional life.

What advice do you have for others who are interested in pursuing a minor in Jewish studies?

I would advise them to take the opportunity to learn about a topic that they are passionate about, and to be open to new perspectives and ideas. It is also important to engage with the Jewish community, whether through religious or cultural events, to gain a deeper understanding of the subject. Finally, I would recommend reading books and articles on Jewish studies to supplement the coursework.

---

graduate student profile

Guy Shalev

Department of Anthropology

What is your area of research?

My area of research is the Israeli health care system, specifically focusing on how it is affected by the country’s conflict with the Palestinian Authority. I am particularly interested in how Israeli healthcare professionals navigate the challenges of their work in a context of ongoing conflict.

Why did you choose this area of research?

I was drawn to this area of research because of my personal background and experiences. Growing up in Israel, I witnessed the effects of conflict on healthcare delivery and patients. As a graduate student in Anthropology, I am interested in understanding the experiences of healthcare workers and patients on the ground and the implications of these experiences for health policy.

What are some of the challenges you face in your research?

One of the challenges is gaining access to healthcare workers and patients. Due to the sensitive nature of the subject, gaining trust and access can be difficult. Additionally, the Israeli healthcare system is highly bureaucratic and complex, which can make data collection and analysis challenging.

What are your future plans?

I plan to continue my research on Israeli healthcare in conflict contexts and to use the findings to improve health policy and practice. I am also interested in teaching and mentorship, as I believe that education is key to achieving equitable and health outcomes in complex contexts.
undergraduate student profile

Liliana Gregory, ’15

Major: History

Hometown: Mexico City

Why did you decide to study Jewish studies?

I was really drawn to its interconnectedness to History, Religious Studies, and Language. It has this rich exploration and understanding of the overlap and connections between the different aspects of Jewish life and it’s fascinating to me. I am always drawn to things that are border cases, in the gray areas of things, and always questions about why things started that way.

What drew you to the Carolina Jewish Studies Program?

I was introduced to the program by a professor at Princeton where I spent a semester as an exchange student, and was really impressed with the program, the community, and the resources available. It was also really appealing to me that the Carolina Jewish Studies Program is one of the largest and most comprehensive programs in the country.

What other experiences have you had outside the classroom and on campus?

I have had many experiences outside the classroom. Most notably, I have been involved in a collaborative documentary project with给我一些关键点的内容。

What's next for you?

I have been accepted to a PhD program at Brandeis University in the Department of History and have been awarded a teaching assistantship. I plan to continue to explore and expand upon the themes and projects that I have been working on in my undergraduate studies.

---

GRADUATE STUDENT PROFILE

Guy Shalay

Major: Jewish Studies

Hometown: Tel Aviv

Why did you decide to study Jewish studies?

I was drawn to the interdisciplinary nature of Jewish studies and the opportunity to explore the religious, cultural, and political aspects of Jewish life. I was also attracted to the program's focus on the diverse and complex history of the Jewish people.

What drew you to the Carolina Jewish Studies Program?

I was impressed with the program's reputation for academic excellence and its commitment to fostering a diverse and inclusive community. I was also drawn to the opportunity to work with a talented faculty and to engage in cutting-edge research.

What other experiences have you had outside the classroom and on campus?

I have been involved in several research projects and have presented my work at conferences across the country. I have also had the opportunity to participate in service-learning projects and to engage with the local Jewish community.

What's next for you?

I am currently working on my dissertation, which explores the role of religion in the Israeli-Palestinian conflict. After graduation, I plan to pursue a career in academia, where I can continue to explore and expand upon the themes and projects that I have been working on in my graduate studies.
What is the Meaning of Bagels and Falafel?

Derek Gottfried

Professor at Hebrew University and co-author of "The Professionalization of Judaism in 19th Century America: Rabbis, Writers, and Their Community"

Jan. 26, 7:30 p.m.

Join the author in a discussion of his book, which explores the history and symbolic meaning behind two classic Jewish foods: bagels and falafels, including the processes of their origin and evolution.

ACCESSIBLE FOR DISABILITY SERVICES.

* For information on how to make a contribution or to receive updates about our event schedule, please subscribe to our listserv by emailing us at ccjs@unc.edu or visit our website at jewishtudies.unc.edu.

Archival Work at the National Library of Israel, Jerusalem

WILLIAM AND IDA FRIDAY CENTER FOR CONTINUING EDUCATION

Sylvia and Irving Margolis Lecture on the Jewish Experience

N O V E M B E R 1 7, 7:30 P.M.

Please visit our website at jewishtudies.unc.edu for additional information.

Joseph Lam

Professor at Hebrew University and author of various books on Jewish studies, one quickly learns that the National Library of Israel is a unique and remarkable institution.

The new research grant will be funded through a private gift made by the Valone Foundation at (919) 962-0108. For information on how to make a contribution, please contact the Center for Jewish Studies at (919) 962-0108.

To formally recognize his dedication and continued exceptional contributions to Jewish studies, the Christopher R. Browning Research and Travel Fund will provide the following grants:

The Center for Jewish Studies at Carolina continues to thrive at Carolina under the direction of Karen Auerbach, the Ambassador Stuart E. Levy, and with the continued support of Keren Hayesod and the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is a place where students, scholars, and the broader university community can come together to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.

The Center is an academic home for students, scholars, and the broader university community to explore and engage in research, teaching, and public service that contributes to the understanding and appreciation of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is dedicated to fostering a dynamic community of scholars, students, and partners who are engaged in the study of Jewish history, culture, and society.

The Center is committed to promoting excellence in Jewish studies through its academic programs, research initiatives, and public engagement efforts.